

Sunshine Healthcare Lanka launches latest Healthguard Wellness Store

Healthguard Pharmacy Ltd, the country's premier urban pharmaceutical, wellness and beauty retail chain opened its re-designed flagship store located at Dharmapala Mawatha recently.

The opening ceremony was graced by Unilever Sri Lanka chairperson Shazia Syed, Munir Shaikh, Group chairman Sunshine Holdings PLC, Sanjeev Samaranyake, Managing Director, Hemas Pharmaceuticals, G. Sathasivam, Founder Chairman, Sunshine Healthcare Lanka, Vish Govindasamy, Group Managing Director, Sunshine Holdings PLC, Shyam Sathasivam, Managing Director, Sunshine Healthcare Lanka and other distinguished guests.

Speaking on the occasion, Shyam Sathasivam said "Our view of healthcare retailing is not limited to the narrow focus of pharmaceuticals. To us healthcare retailing is about enhanced living (wellness), looking and feeling better (beauty and healing)."

As a subsidiary of Sunshine Healthcare Lanka Limited, Healthguard began operations in 2004 with an objective of being a healthcare retailing model in South Asia. Today with an established network of Shazia Syed, Unilever Sri Lanka chairperson talking with Infiyaz M. Ali, Head of Operations, Healthguard Pharmacy Limited at the opening of the Healthguard store at Dharmapala Mawatha, Colombo.

Province, Healthguard endeavours to create a different shopping experience through a wide range of product offerings to its customers.

"Our business model aims to be more than just an ordinary pharmacy in our offerings, formats and solutions. It is about taking people "from sickness to happiness". Hence, we have taken steps to inculcate this approach to healthcare retailing in all of our people working across our 17 outlets," Shyam noted.

17 pharmacies across the Western